

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Hail trams! The Mannokawai is stranded at Koolau. Sir or madam benign, see you forget not the 9.

Letters remaining uncalled for are elsewhere listed.

More Government leases are advertised to be sold at auction.

The steamer Australia will be due from San Francisco on Wednesday next.

The Friend for January is promptly to hand, well filled in all its departments.

The birthday of Emperor William II. of Germany falls upon Sunday, 27th instant.

The steamer Likelike arrived back from the Molokai trip about ten o'clock p.m. 31st ult.

The value of the lands affected by the Bishop estate decision is estimated at one million dollars.

The Bell Telephone Company has issued its new quarterly card, presenting a flourishing appearance.

It is respectfully suggested, since the cars are running, that Thomas should alternate with Emma Square for the Saturday afternoon concert.

One of the yacht Nyanza's crew played the bagpipes about town Thursday evening, delighting the hearts of all the Gaiety who heard the lovely pipruch.

The Honolulu Yacht and Boat Club will hold its annual meeting this evening, when officers will be elected and other important business transacted.

A big job for printers to figure on is the printing and binding of 500 copies of the Great Register of the Kingdom, tenders to close on Wednesday next at noon.

It is perhaps a curious coincidence that the unexpected yacht that arrived in its party a mensesake of the head of the expected yachting party that is still awaited.

Mr. Walter Hill, proprietor of the Bulletin, entertained all his employees at dinner at his residence, Leleu, on New Year's eve, a very pleasant time being enjoyed by all.

By the adoption of rubber bearings the noise of the trams has been reduced to a minimum. They run along now with as little clatter and roar as is made by ordinary carriages.

Really a rare opportunity to obtain first-class furniture appears in the notice of assignees' sale by Mr. Levey of the whole of Mr. W. S. Luce's household effects on Friday of next week.

The memorandum calendar issued by the Hawaiian News Company is at once neat, convenient and pretty. It has good space for memoranda to each date and is tastefully printed in colors.

In this issue appears a well-considered article, based upon personal observation, by Hon. H. M. Whitney, on "The Approaches to the Volcano." It will repay perusal by intending tourists.

Officers of Mystic Lodge, K. of P., whose names were published last week, were installed at a goodly meeting Wednesday evening by Deputy Supreme Chancellor, David Dayton, assisted by D. S. V. C. Meyers, D. P., McCarthy, and D. S. M. at A., Burgett.

A gentleman in town has a communication from a railway passenger agent in Canada, announcing that in all likelihood a large party of Canadians will visit these islands in March next. They may confidently be assured a warm welcome, not only from their countrymen here in numbers, but by the whole community.

Mrs. Geo. W. Nawaakoa died Tuesday at 2 o'clock, at Leleu, of consumption, from which she has been suffering for several years past. Mrs. Nawaakoa was a half-caste about 34 years of age, and was formerly a Mrs. Newton. She had five children with her former husband, three of whom are living.

At about 6:25 Wednesday evening the electric street lights sprang into their wonted effulgence after an absence of three nights on account of the broken water wheel shaft. An attempt had indeed been made on Tuesday evening to light up, but it was unsuccessful probably owing to the demoralization of the conductors by the storm.

New Year's Day was quietly observed in and about the city. There was a good deal of driving round indulged in. The principal outdoor sports are elsewhere reported. Natives as usual made it their great holiday with luau, etc., but there was not an inordinate amount of drunkenness, among either foreigners or natives, considering all things.

About 8 o'clock Tuesday night the front and back door of Hon. J. I. Dowsett's office, Queen street, were discovered by the police to be unfastened. Inside papers and other articles were strewn about in confusion. Communication by telephone with the proprietor could not be got, probably owing to wires down, and a police watch was set on the place for the night.

The funeral of the late J. K. Spalding took place on Thursday and was largely attended by Hawaiians and foreigners. The interment was in Kawahiaho Cemetery, the Revs. H. M. Parker and A. Mackintosh officiating in the burial services. The late Mr. Spalding was a devoted worker in the Hawaiian Blue Ribbon League, and was instrumental in lessening drinking habits among men in the employ of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company.

A literary entertainment was given at St. Andrew's Priory Thursday evening, which was very largely attended. The programme opened with a recitation by the Rev. H. H. Gowen, which was given with good elocutionary power. Then followed songs by Messrs. T. B. Walker and T. May, with Mr. Wray Taylor as accompanist. These were followed by a tableau representing the leading Christian nations, in which several ladies and naval officers took part. This was the gem of the evening, and fairly captivated the audience.

Mr. Thomas Lucas has been elected President of the Elele Publishing Co.

The addressing of the ships at sunset was a beautiful sight, only marred by a few catches.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

Movements of Teachers—More Improved Schoolhouses.

Mr. H. R. Hitchcock, principal of the Waiuku School, has asked and been granted four months' leave of absence, to go to San Francisco for medical treatment. This is a fresh proof of the Board's appreciation of his worth.

Mr. Hitchcock had during the past few years been granted furloughs of six and three months respectively, to go to the Coast in connection with the publication of his Hawaiian-English Dictionary. Moreover, he was transferred from the more arduous duties of principal of the Lahainalua boarding school to ordinary day school hours and service at the head of the Waiuku high school, receiving at the same time an increase of salary.

Mr. Hitchcock's niece will conduct the school in his absence. His salary, as in former leaves, will go on.

Mr. G. A. Capen has been assigned to the English school at Waiohinu, Kau.

Mr. Edward Quinn will go as assistant to the school at Elele, Kauai, upon the completion of the new house there.

Improvements to the schoolhouse at Huelo, Maui, have been authorized by the Board, and a new schoolhouse will be provided at Waikapu, same island, as soon as the deeds have been exchanged.

Mr. P. S. Woolsey arrived by the Forest Queen on Friday night to take service under the Board.

The Tramway Opening. The tram cars did a heavy traffic the opening day, New Year's, on King street where they ran. It was a very unsatisfactory service for the public, however, as hundreds waited at the corners for belated cars only to be disappointed, the fullest complement allowed being already on board.

The company should have had double the cars on the line that it had. Otherwise, the traffic seemed to be conducted without much friction. It will be well if permanent effect be given the prevention of over-crowding—a grievous nuisance elsewhere—although the virtue in this case is owing partly to the interference of the police. The remedy, however, must not be effected at the sacrifice of public accommodation, but by the company being obliged to supply a sufficiency of cars for every emergency.

The new year was ushered in with the usual pandemonium of steam whistles, gongs, unmusical instruments, fireworks, vocal discords, and church bells.

Dividends are announced of $4 a share on C. Brewer & Co.'s stock, and $10 a share on Hawaiian Agricultural Company's. Good as New Year's presents.

The street cars were crowded to the last foot of standing room on Saturday evening. At certain hours on Sunday, too, there were more waiting people than accommodation.

It is supposed that the S.S. Australia sailed at 10 o'clock in the morning, instead of 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and she therefore may be expected about 8 o'clock on Wednesday.

There were nine arrests on Saturday, three of them being for opium in possession. The balance were drunk, assault, deserting contract service, and disturbing quiet of the night.

A notice of English sermon in the Roman Catholic Cathedral was not received until after Saturday's paper was printed. All such notices require to be in not later than Friday evening.

Tenders are asked by the Interior Department for addition to Oahu Prison, upon specifications modified from those of the tenders previously rejected. They close at noon of Wednesday next.

The Hawaiian Almanac and Annual for 1889 is promised to be issued to-day. It is an indispensable publication for home and very desirable for friends and business connections abroad.

Mr. Henry Smith has been promoted from First Deputy Clerk to Clerk of the Supreme Court, vice Mr. William Foster elevated to the Police Justiceship. Mr. J. H. Reist is promoted from Second to First Deputy Clerk.

The clouds were shifting enough to give frequent glimpses at the partial eclipse of the sun New Year's morning. About half of the disk was shadowed, making the sunshine give a yellowish tinge to the atmosphere.

The Board of Directors of the Hawaiian Rifle Association did not have a quorum on Saturday evening, but five who met agreed upon Saturday, 26th inst., as the day on which to shoot off the events undecided on New Year's day.

The 24 mules advertised by the Hawaiian Hotel Stables have arrived alive and kicking—at least the mule power for the latter condition is there. Six horses have also arrived to that firm by the same vessel, the bark Forest Queen.

There was a large mass meeting at Kamaikapili Church Wednesday night to promote another excursion to Molokai. The trip lately made is regarded as a failure, inasmuch as most of the people never saw their friends and relatives.

Oranges about double the size of the ordinary one of commerce are shown in Mr. A. M. Hewett's window. They were raised in the garden of Hon. W. C. Wilder at Makiki, and are eloquent as to the fruit-growing capabilities of this country.

The Anglican Church Chronicle for January contains seasonable editorial matter full of peace and good will. Its news departments have much of interest to churchmen. Methods of teaching Hawaiian children are ably discussed in the educational department by an evident expert.

Liquor smugglers from the Takasago Maru have been very audacious. One native was arrested for assaulting Customs officer Van Dorn. Another—ex-Lieut. Sam Makai of the Kaimiloa—is under arrest for obstructing justice. He pulled a captured bottle of gin out of Officer Good's pocket and threw it in the harbor.

The last Lusó Hawaiiano has made an enterprising new departure, in the shape of select English reading for the young Portuguese. Mr. Dias has recognized in this way the fact that the rising generation of high nationality are receiving an English education in our schools, public and private, and therefore will be benefited by agreeable home exercise in that language.

"That beats all, when a ride on the car can be had for five cents, to see an editor walking!" So quoth the chief scribe of the Y. M. C. A., independently leading his horse on King street, to a perambulating newspaper hack. And the latter could only say for himself that the car driver refused to let him on, but could not say whether that functionary thought he wanted to travel deadhead.

The Suez canal takes in about $1,000,000 a month in toll.

SERIOUS ASSAULT.

A Custom House Watchman Attacked at His Home.

Hakuelo, a native watchman for the Customs on the bark Forest Queen, was assaulted at his house near Smith's bridge, Beretania street, after midnight of Saturday by a gang of ruffians. They pulled him out of his bed and proceeded to beat him unmercifully. One of his eyebrows was laid open, it is believed with steel knuckles. Hakuelo noticed a flash of shining metal as the blow was falling, which he at first thought was from a knife. He raised an outcry and the police responding arrested one of his assailants, who proved to be one of the Forest Queen's crew. The motive for the outrage is naturally suspected to be resentment at the watchman's faithful prevention of opium smuggling.

Wanted for Fame or Fortune. The Philadelphia Times remarks: "If the Pacific Coast gets a representative in Harrison's Cabinet it will be in the person of John F. Smith." Who is this secret, dark and midnight Smith?—Alta California.

He's here, "if you please," but can't be spared for anything else than fame or fortune.

The Japan Mail learns from private advices that the prospects of the Formosa sugar crop are very unsatisfactory and that, owing to heavy rains in August, the yield is estimated at only half last season's production. In addition it is feared the standing cane will be interfered with in the fighting that is going on.
